Management Style:
Mixture of Active and Passive

Key Points:

This strategy is a high risk strategy available on CONNECT, which pursues a high potential return with a lower level of risk than a full equity strategy.

Strategy Objective

Provide a similar return to equities but with less volatility of returns over the long term. This is a high risk strategy which can have high levels of volatility. It is most suitable for long term investment.

The strategy aims to reduce the likelihood of extreme investment shocks by diversifying across a range of performance-seeking asset classes. Some of the underlying Funds use an ESG (Environmental, Social & Governance) methodology in their investment approach.

This strategy is most appropriate for younger members that are seeking a return in excess of inflation and/or for those members with a high appetite for investment risk.

The Higher Risk Strategy gross return for the quarter was -8.0%. The strategy is invested in a well-diversified range of assets.

Global equity markets fell sharply in Q2, with investors facing challenging market conditions with uncertainty over rising interest rates, inflation and slower economic growth. The 'Dynamic Share to Cash' Strategy, which can move between equities and cash based on a quantitative model, started Q2 at 100% equity exposure but this was reduced over the quarter to 65% by end June.

Longer-dated AAA-rated Eurozone government bond prices fell sharply, with yields rising, over Q2. In attempts to combat rising inflation, Central Banks continued to implement interest rate rises, with the ECB expected to increase its rates in July.

The Lower Risk Strategy invests in a wide range of assets in order to reduce volatility and it dynamically changes asset allocation as valuations change.
